Angelo Eliades

to speak on

Connecting with Ourselves and Nature to Cope with the New Energy Shifts in our World

Angelo Eliades works professionally with plants and nature. He is a Presenter, Trainer and Writer in the areas of Sustainable Gardening and Permaculture with a background in the biomedical sciences. He also works with people, assisting them through shamanic healing work to explore the depths of the psyche, achieve breakthrough healing experiences and find wholeness once again. With almost two decades of experience as a Reiki Teacher and Practitioner, and even longer as a Dream Analyst, he is conversant with the human inner world and the symbolic language of the human subconscious. His work is centred around helping people connect to their inner essence and to that of Nature in order to find balance, harmony and purpose.

In times of drastic change, it is always wiser to ride the waves, and use their momentum as a driving force for personal transformation, rather than trying to swim against the current! If Buddhist philosophy reminds us that all things are temporary and can be swept away, what source of stability remains for humanity? When we explore the historical wisdom of many cultures, we find that they do have answers to that question, and through no coincidence, they seem to be in agreement.

The Evenings' Presentation will Focus on;
