‘The Entire Planet is Poo-luted!!’

Duncan is a multi-disciplinarian due to this accumulated skill-set supported by his qualifications in business, education and sustainability. He is currently lecturing at Swinburne for the National Centre of Sustainability but develops his own projects through his own business, GreenNation. A maker of possibilities, he is passionate about building individual, organisational and community capital through Education for Sustainability (EfS).

Using the 1,350 tonnes of dog poo discarded on a daily basis in Australia, Poo Power! aims to light the world – literally and figuratively. The renewable energy produced by the biogas generators will be used to provide lighting for users of the urban parks in the peak early morning and evening periods. The project also engages Australians with the issues of dog waste (including biogenesis from waste, ecological sanitation and water ecosystem protection) through informative social media, educational resources, delivering presentations and other events.

The Evenings' Presentation will Focus on;

- Anthrozoology, i.e. Dog-Human Relationships.
- Ecological Sanitation and Closed Loop Systems.
- Biogas Generation and ‘Waste to Energy’ Transfer.
- Poo Power! Overview (Communicating Science to the General Public).
